CHRISTIAN CHURCH HAD AN EXCELLENT YEAR.

HAD BALANCE ON HAND

Almost $100 on Hand, Where Last Year There Was an $800 Deficit—Society Reports Good to mention. They had a balance of $100 on hand.

The Mission Circle gained 12 members during the year and had $200 in the treasury.

Every society and auxiliary had a gain in membership and came out ahead financially.

What Happened Forty Years Ago

Interesting Items Taken From The Democrat Files.

Sunday was the annual meeting of the Christian church and an all-day service was held. Reports were read from the different departments of the church work, and financially the church came out ahead for the first time in several years. The reports were the most encouraging in the history of the church.

A basket dinner was served at the noon hour in the parlors of the church and three hundred sat down for the dinner.

At the business session, which was held at the morning service hour, four elders and eight deacons were elected. The elders are W. W. Glass, T. H. Coos, Dr. J. H. Todd, Jonathan Stark. The deacons are B. A. Frost, A. L. Nash, G. B. Roseberry, W. E. Goforth, J. D. Dickerson, Dr. A. T. Fisher, Henry Westfall, O. W. Swinford. The greater number of these men had served before. The church now has eight elders and twenty deacons.

The first report was the pastor's, Rev. C. J. Miller. It is as follows:

"The pastor wishes to submit the following report: Regular sermons, 118; special addresses, 20, including commencement addresses, Memorial day, Titanic memorial, Mothers' Circle, Normal chapel, etc; funeral sermons, 23; total sermons and addresses, 157. Weddings, 27; calls, including calls on the sick, 380.

"Gain in membership since January 1, 1912 to December 31, 1912, 142. Of these 100 came by primary obedience, confession and baptism, 42 case from other sources; total gain, 142. Loss, 26; of these 6 by death and 20 by letter. Gain, 142; loss, 26, net gain, 116.

"The pastor has baptized 4 who retain their membership elsewhere. He also held a meeting at Burlington Junction, resulting in 51 additions to the church; 43 of these were baptized and 8 came by letter.

"In the year, including the meeting at Burlington Junction, the pastor has baptized 147, and taken 193 into the church, 142 of this number into the local church."

For the first time in sixteen years there was a balance in the regular treasury. The balance was almost $100. Last year there was a deficit of $800. The church reached its full apportionment to foreign missions, $600, for the second time in five years. There were gifts to a number of other enterprises.

The next report was from the Bible school by Ernest Yeaman. The report gave an increase in average attendance and a little balance in the treasury.

The Endeavor had a banner year with an increase of 100 per cent in membership and a little balance in the treasury.

The Ladies' Aid also had a banner year, the best in their history. Several hundred dollars passed through their hands in practical service, and they have a balance of $237.75 in the treasury. Report was read by Mrs. James B. Robinson.

The C. W. B. M., Christian Woman's Board of Missions, report by Mrs. Henry Westfall, was remarkable. The items of helpfulness are too numerous

A FARM ADVISER BULK SALES LAW

PROPOSITION BEING CONSIDERED BY COMMERCIAL CLUB.

MEASURE BEING ADVOCATED BY RETAIL MERCHANTS.

MUMFORD COMES HERE WOULD STOP FAKE SALES

Dean of State School Coming to Confer in Matter—Government and State Each Pay Part of Salary.

Wholesalers Also Interested in Law Which Would Protect Them in Cases of Transfer of Stocks.

The Commercial club of Maryville is now considering hiring a county farm adviser for Nodaway county, whose duty it is to give expert advice to the farmers on how to raise better crops and on all lines of farm work.

Dean Mumford of the state agricultural college of the university, will arrive in Maryville Tuesday and the club and citizens here will confer with him in regard to the matter. The state agricultural college has charge of this work and makes the selection of these advisers.

It is only necessary to raise $500 to secure one of these farm advisers. The United States government gives $500 a year to each county and the state gives $500, and the state legislature is going to pass a bill requesting the county court in each county to give $500.

Only a few of the counties over the state have hired these farm advisers. Pettis county, of which Sedalia is the county seat, was the first one in the state, and S. M. Jordan is the man they selected to have charge of the work. That county is well satisfied, and so are the other counties that have selected one.

Buchanan county is to have one but has not selected the man.

The next number of the Normal lecture course is Noah Beilharz, the impersonator. He will be here on Friday evening, January 17, and will give "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." The entertainment will take place in the First M. E. church.

LEFT FOR NEW MEXICO.

Editor Fred Hull to Go to Artesia to Spend Month or Six Weeks for Benefit of Health.

Editor and Mrs. J. F. Hull and daughter left Monday afternoon for Artesia, N. M., where they will visit Mrs. Hull's sister's sister, Mrs. J. E. Robertson, and Mr. Robertson. They expect to be gone six weeks.

Editor Hull has been confined to his home for the past few weeks with erysipelas. He goes to New Mexico to recuperate from his recent illness. His many friends here hope he will return in the best of health and spirits.

DEFEATED BY TARKIO

By a Score of 43 to 26—Next Game for Normal Team in St. Joseph.

Returning from a 3,000-mile trip through the south, where they played nine games and were as many times defeated, the Tarkio college basketball team got some sweet revenge on the local Normal five Friday night at Tarkio. The count of the tragedy was 43 to 26, which is not so bad considering that the Tarkio bunch hadn't been defeated for two years until on the aforesaid trip.

Superior team work was the principal reason for the locals' defeat, although they were outclassed all around.

The next game for the green and white will come next Saturday night, when they play the St. Joseph Central high school team at St. Joseph.

SCHOOL RESUMED WORK.

The city schools resumed their school work Monday, after a two weeks' vacation during the holidays.

HOME FROM CHICAGO.

Librarian C. E. Wells returned Monday morning from Chicago, where he attended the national meeting of librarians.

ANOTHER DRUG STORE HERE.

According to the Tarkio Avalanche S. C. Wampler of that city has rented a building in Maryville and is to move his drug stock to Maryville.

Miss Eva Montgomery returned to her place in the public schools of St. Joseph Saturday evening, after the holiday vacation spent with her sister, Mrs. S. P. Huston, south of Maryville, and Maryville friends.

THE FIRST REAL WINTER.

Mercury Down to Zero in First Bad Storm of Winter—It Was Worse a Year Ago.

The first real cold of the 1913 winter struck Maryville Saturday night, and we are experiencing the first severe storm of the season. The cold weather which prevails generally throughout the state, follows a week of unseasonably high temperatures and was accompanied by a light drifting snow.

On Sunday morning the mercury went down to 16 above zero, and on Monday morning the mercury stood at zero, making it the coldest morning of the winter.

Over an inch of snow fell, being the first real snow of the season. It was still snowing during the day Monday. Just a year ago the weather was very severe and there was snow on the ground several feet deep. The temperature on the morning of January 5, 1912, was 6 below zero, and on the morning of January 6 it was 17 below zero. Then on January 7 it was 16 below zero; January 8, 4 below; January 9, 1 below; January 10, 7 below; January 11, 8 below; January 12, 28 below, and January 13, 12 below.

The forecast for today is cloudy and colder tonight; Tuesday fair and continuing cold.

MANY ATTENDED FUNERAL.

Services for Mrs. P. O. Landon Were Heard by Many Friends.

Although the day was exceedingly stormy and cold, the First Baptist church was filled with friends to hear the beautiful service in memory of Mrs. Perry O. Landon, who passed away Friday morning.

Many had visited the home between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m., to take the last look at the sweet-faced young mother, who had become a familiar sight to many who did not know her personally, as she went on almost daily walks with her two little boys. They had been together more than usual during the Christmas shopping days and were often seen at the windows talking about the things they saw or making purchases, and it was hard to believe that death had touched her.

The floral offerings were so rich and profuse that there was no evidence of death, and she whom all mourned looked like a lily uprooted on its bed. There were two hymns given, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "Crossing the Bar," by the quartet, Miss Marie Jones, Miss Nelle Wray, Mr. Long Perrin and Mr. Orlo Quinn.

The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Lee Harrel, the prayer by Rev. S. D. Harkness, and a brief talk of consolation by Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, founded on the vision of St. John, where he said, "And there shall be no more sea," meaning that in the heavenly home there would be no more separation and that death nor sorrow nor any other thing that corrodes the present life should ever enter there, where all tears shall be wiped from weeping eyes.

At the cemetery the casket was lowered into the grave that was lined and bordered with the floral offerings.

Relatives from a distance at the services were Mrs. Mary Landon, Mrs. Theodore Chapman and Mrs. J. A. Wiseman of Jerseyville, Ill., the mother, aunt and sister of Mr. Landon, and a cousin, Mrs. George McNaught of Virden, Ill.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home by Rev. Sappenfield of the M. E. church at Burlington Junction.

Burial took place in the Junction cemetery. The little girl is survived by her parents, five sisters and a brother—Elsie, Mary, Mabel, Lois, Helen and Arthur.

$98,000 IN BONDS

OUTSTANDING INDEBTEDNESS OF CITY INCLUDING WATER WORKS.

A GOOD REVENUE YEAR

Surplus of Receipts Over Expenses of Nearly $5,000—Over $4,000 in the Sewer Interest Fund.

The semi-annual financial statement of receipts and disbursements of the city of Maryville was read at the last city council meeting held on Friday night and shows the city to be in excellent shape.

The disbursements from July 1 to December 31, 1912, were $7,146.46, and the receipts were $12,053.42, leaving a balance on hand December 31 of $4,906.96. This amount is in the general revenue fund.

The general revenue of the city runs close to $16,000 a year, while the general revenue tax of the city amounts to only $7,184.19, if all of the taxes are collected. The balance of this amount is made up by saloon licenses and other license money. The saloon pays a yearly license of $5,200, $4,200 of this amount going to the city.

According to the statement the following was on hand on December 31 in the various funds:

In the sewer sinking fund there is a balance of $1,683.54.

In the lateral sewer fund there is a balance of $1,296.04.

In the sewer interest fund there is a balance of $4,049.12.

In the paving sinking fund the balance is $3,860.90.

In the paving interest fund the balance is $3,271.79.

In the street workers' guarantee fund the balance is $150.

In the library and highway fund there is a balance of $581.15.

The bonded indebtedness of the city is $98,000. Of this amount $80,000 is for the water works, $12,000 for the paving bonds, and $6,000 for the sewer bonds.

DEATH OF LITTLE GIRL.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Houston Died Sunday Morning of Acute Attack of Appendicitis.

Ruth Houston, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Houston, living two and a half miles northeast of Burlington Junction, died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning after a three days' illness of appendicitis. The little girl was operated on Saturday evening at 5 o'clock, but it was impossible to save her life.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home by Rev. Sappenfield of the M. E. church at Burlington Junction. Burial took place in the Junction cemetery. The little girl is survived by her parents, five sisters and a brother—Elsie, Mary, Mabel, Lois, Helen and Arthur.

MAYOR ROBEY TO WED.

He Will Marry Mrs. Stella Lawson of This City on Wednesday.

Mayor Arthur S. Robey will wed on Wednesday, January 8, Mrs. Stella Lawson of this city. When seen by a representative of this paper, Mayor Robey would not deny or affirm that he is to be married, but he has informed his close friends that it will be on Wednesday.

Meetings Start Out Well.

The revival services at Harmony church started Sunday with a good attendance, although the weather was so forbidding. Dr. Norman Camp of Chicago, who has charge of the meetings, preached in the morning on "The Wideawake Christian," and in the evening on "Sin," and will use the same subject Monday night. Pastor C. R. Green of Harmony church expressed much satisfaction Monday over the good beginning of the meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Scott were called to Burlington Junction Sunday morning by the death of Mrs. Scott's little niece, Ruth Houston.

Mrs. Oscar Chaney of Kansas City, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Matt O'Brien, returned home Monday.

PAPE'S DIAEPSIN
ENDS INDIGESTION.

Time It! No Sour, Gassy Stomach or Dyspepsia in Five Minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diaepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diaepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

TARIFF REVISION TO THE FORE

Democrats Face Active Work on
New Bills This Week.

HEARINGS WILL BE ACCORDED

Conferences Between Legislative Leaders and President Wilson Afterward Will Determine the Course to Be Taken—Methods Not Decided.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The first stage in the program for downward revision of the tariff, promised by the Democratic party, was entered upon today when the house representatives, through its committee on ways and means, formally opened the doors to the American public for the discussion of tariff rates, protection to industries and concessions to the "ultimate consumer."

The work will be preparatory to the first change of tariff duties since 1909, when the Payne-Aldrich law was enacted by a Republican congress and approved by a Republican president.

Fortified by the election of a Democratic president and congress, the adoption of a tariff reduction plank at the Baltimore convention and the nomination of President elect Wilson that tariff revision is to be the first big achievement of the new administration, Democratic leaders opened to day's hearings confident that they will lead to an early change in many, if not all, of the schedules of the existing tariff laws.

Methods Not Decided.

The method of the approaching revision and the extent of the changes to be made in the present duties are points not fully settled by the Democratic leaders in congress and President elect Wilson. It is known that reduced duties on chemicals, metals, cotton and woolen goods will follow closely the standard fixed by the bills which have passed the Democratic house during the last two years, none of which has become law. The facts to be brought out at the public hearings this month and the conferences to follow between President elect Wilson and the house and senate leaders may, however, result in important modifications of the big reductions the house has put into some of the bills of the last two years.

NEW CABINET NOT CHOSEN

President Elect Says That His Mind Is Still Open.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 6.—President elect Wilson made it clear that nobody in the United States knew as yet who was going to be in his cabinet, or what would be the program he would suggest for the next congress. He declared he had not offered a single cabinet portfolio to anyone thus far and had as yet reached no conclusions as to plans for the extra session.

The president elect admitted he was finding the task of cabinet making very difficult. He said he would delay any announcements until he could name his entire cabinet.

TWENTY-TWO ARE DROWNED

Steamer Luckenbach Run Down by British Tramp Vessel.

Newport News, Va., Jan. 6.—Eight survivors of the steamer Julia Luckenbach, rammed and sunk in Chesapeake bay by the British tramp steamer Indrakaula, arrived here and told how fourteen of their number had gone down in the icy waters without a chance for life. The eight, after a six-hour battle with the terrific gale, which swept the whole coast, were taken from the rigging of their sunken ship by the Danish steamer Penna and brought here. Six others later were rescued by the Indrakaula, according to a wireless message from the revenue cutter Apache. One of these died later.

Three Launches Wrecked.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 6.—Three coasting launches were driven ashore on the California coast, near Point of Rocks, fifteen miles south of this city, and at least seven men were drowned. One of the wrecked boats was the United States immigrant launch Elizabeth. There was a total of twelve men on board the three vessels, and only two are known to have reached shore. The three vessels met disaster in one of the severest storms recently experienced on the southern California coast.

Boiler of Locomotive Explodes.

Detroit, Jan. 6.—The explosion of the boiler of a Detroit and Toledo line railroad locomotive here caused the death of one man and the serious injury of six others. The engine was being prepared to haul a passenger train to Toledo when the explosion occurred. James Edwards, a railroad hostler, was instantly killed.

Robbers Get $3,000 at Liberty Bank.

Independence, Kan., Jan. 6.—Three thousand dollars was the loot carried away by robbers who blew the safe of the State Bank of Liberty. Ten charges of dynamite were used by the robbers.

Probable Secretary of State.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—It is probable that B. von Jagow, the German ambassador to Italy, will be appointed secretary of state for foreign affairs.

URGES FREEDOM FOR AMERICAN RED MEN

Former Commissioner Valentine's Report to Secretary Fisher.

Washington, Jan. 6.—That the American Indian should be released as soon as possible from the paternal care of the United States government, now his guardian in virtually everything he does, was the opinion expressed in the annual report from the bureau of Indian affairs submitted to Secretary of the Interior Fisher by Robert G. Valentine, until recently commissioner.

The then commissioner voiced the hope that the day might be near when the United States will finally have lifted its hands from Indian affairs, and all Indians in all respects will stand on an equal footing with all their fellow Americans.

"With all the expedition compatible with the Indians' welfare," he added, "they should be made subject to the laws of their states and be taught to look to their local government instead of the national government. My conviction is that no possible obstacle should be placed in the way of the transformation of Indian affairs administered by the United States into the affairs of normal citizens under the ordinary jurisdiction of the states.

The president elect admitted he was finding the task of cabinet making very difficult. He said he would delay any announcements until he could name his entire cabinet.

"TAMA JIM" WANTS FUNDS

Retiring Secretary Makes Last Appeal to House Committee.

Washington, Jan. 6.—"Tama Jim" Wilson made his last appeal for funds to conduct the work of the department of agriculture when he appeared before the house agricultural committee. Secretary Wilson will retire on March 4.

In particular he asked for increased appropriations to continue the enforcement of the pure food law and for educational work. Reviewing the work of the department in the south, he asserted that the beef supply of the country must in the future come from the south instead of the west.

Fighting for Ball Park.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 6.—Wichita fans and the stockholders in the Wichita baseball association are wondering what they will do for a ball park next summer if the plans of certain parties succeed. The Wichita ball park is located on an island. The other day a party of landseers, backed by a lawyer, swooped down upon Wichita, staked four islands in the Arkansas river and proceeded to erect houses. They claim the islands by right of a state law relating to the settlement of school lands.

Many Deaths in Congress.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Mortality records have been broken during the present congress. Since the Sixty-second congress began Vice President Sherman, six senators and sixteen representatives have died.

Krasna Case Dismissed.

Newton, Ia., Jan. 6.—The case of Jacob Krasna, indicted on the charge of perjury in the Leo Krampe murder case, was dismissed on motion of County Attorney Mowrey.

TURKS MAKE NEW CONCESSIONS

Danger of Rupture of Peace Negotiations Seems Averted.

NOT CONCEDING ADRIANOPOLE.

Mussulmans Prefer to Give Up Rights in Crete First—Will Agree to Move Thracean Line Farther East—Anything to Save Dignity.

London, Jan. 6.—The general situation has ameliorated and the danger of a rupture of the peace negotiations today seems to be averted through Turkey making fresh concessions, which will enable the allies to enjoy a holiday during the festivities in connection with the orthodox Christmas.

Rechad Pasha seems to have turned into a sphinx, so full of mystery and impenetrable is he. By authoritative sources it is said that the powers through their ambassadors here and at Constantinople have succeeded in mixing much water with both the allies' and Turkey's wine.

Strong pressure in favor of moderation has been exercised at Constantinople, while the Balkan representatives have been urged to be patient before breaking off the negotiations, especially as they can lose nothing by waiting, their position being better than that of Turkey.

The efforts of the powers appear to be successful on both sides. Thus, unless some sudden change develops, Rechad Pasha will present terms which will comprise another rectification of the Thracean frontier, bringing it farther east than provided for in the terms presented Friday, perhaps to Dedeagatch, but not yet including Adrianople, and possibly the cession of Turkey's rights in Crete directly to the allies.

JUDGE MAKES CONCESSION

Refuses to Rescind Order Approving Raise in Price of Gas.

Kansas City, Jan. 6.—Judge Pollock of the federal court in Kansas City, Kan., refused to rescind his order of Dec. 30, approving a raise in the price of gas by the Kansas Natural Gas company.

Application for the rescinding of the order was made by C. F. Holmes and George Sharratt, receivers for the gas company. As a concession to officials of Kansas and Missouri towns affected by the gas order, Judge Pollock slightly modified his original mandate by forbidding the Kansas Natural to shut off the supply to distributing companies if they failed to meet the advance at the end of ten days, which provision was made in the original order of Dec. 30.

The court set the first Monday in February as the date upon which all those interested might appear in court and thoroughly thresh out the gas question.

HARDY VARIETY OF WHEAT

Aaronson Says "Wild" Specie Will Reclaim Arid Areas of America.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Jewish settlements in Palestine have developed varieties of wheat that will make possible the settlement of the vast desert tracts in America. This statement was made here by an agricultural expert at a meeting of prominent Hebrews.

Aaron Aaronson, recently returned from Haifa, Palestine, where an agricultural experiment station is maintained, said the hardest of all wheat has been discovered and that it would grow anywhere. The wheat is said to be immune to all diseases and to drought. Eighteen varieties of the wheat have been developed at Haifa, according to Mr. Aaronson.

Police Think They Have Auto Bandits

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Detectives searching this city for the automobile bandits whose raids have terrorized citizens captured three men from Detroit, whom they assert to be members of the band of automobile raiders. A fourth man, also from Detroit, overpowered the detective who had him in charge and escaped.

Rockefeller's Location Kept Secret.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 6.—Authentic information as to the whereabouts of William G. Frick to Build $3,000,000 Residence.

New York, Jan. 6.—Plans for the most magnificent and costliest private residence in New York have been placed in the hands of contractors by Henry C. Frick, the Pittsburgh steel millionaire. The house, it is estimated, will cost at least $3,000,000.

Crown Prince Alexis Able to Walk.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—Crown Prince Alexis is now permitted to walk about his rooms in the palace, showing that his convalescence is progressing satisfactorily and disposing of the report abroad that he is a helpless cripple.

His Wilful Milly

A Perverse Maiden Thought She Was Teaching Her Lover a Lesson.

By ALVAH JORDON GARTH.
"Don't be too hard on me, Milly."

"I'm not. You are hard on yourself Harold. Just think of it; when we were getting along so nicely, and everything was going so well! I can't bear to think of it," and pretty Milly Wells burst into tears.

"I am sorry," began the young man in a contrite tone meant to be soothing. He placed a gentle hand on Milly's own. She switched it away with a petulant.

"You never would have done it if I had known," declared the young girl between sobs. "I never want you to show me the bank book again. I've lost all interest in it forever, and I'm glad I'm going to visit Aunt Margaret. People may have some consideration for me there."

Harold's brow drew into a wrinkle of pain. He was deeply in love with Milly, but he felt that she was pretty far away from his influence just now.

"Milly," he said quite gravely, "we must not quarrel over a trifle."

"A trifle!" cried his companion indignantly. "Do you call my wishes my happiness, nothing?"

"Listen to me, dear," said Harold tenderly. "You and I would never have met, and I might still be a drudge in a poor country store, if it were not for John Gregory."

"Oh, that's an old story," replied Milly impatiently.

"Yes, it is an old story," pursued Harold, "and a good old story—how he gave me, a penniless lad, enough money to reach the city, and a recommendation that enabled me to win my present position. There is a new part to the story now, Milly. His son, a profligate, came to me today. He was in trouble—something worse than trouble, dear, almost disgrace. A hundred and fifty dollars might save him. I remembered what his kind old father, now dead, had done for me, and..."

"You let him have the money—our money!" said Milly. "All that great sum earned so hard and saved so slowly. Oh, dear! oh, dear! it is almost heartbreaking!"

"I feel that I did right," declared Harold. "It would have been base ingratitude to deny young Gregory what may be his last safety line to hope and home."

Harold walked slowly home in the moonlight, serious and wretched. After the first golden glamour of their early love-making, this engaged couple had begun hoping and planning in a practical business way. Every Saturday night they had walked down to the savings bank, where Harold had proudly deposited a regular amount out of his salary.

Like a snowball the little savings of love had grown, until it represented over three hundred dollars. A few more months, and the height of their savings would have been reached—six hundred dollars. Then June, the month of brides and roses—and Milly's eyes had danced, and her bright cheeks glowed over anticipations of selecting their first housekeeping outfit.

Harold Brown called at the Wells home as had been planned the next afternoon at three o'clock. It had been arranged that he was to see Milly off on the train. All the way to her home he longed and hoped for a few minutes of her sole company to smooth over the little quarrel of the evening previous.

To his disappointment, he found that the aunt whom Milly was going to visit had stopped over from a train to take her home with her. Amid the bustle of luggage and parting with half a dozen fond girl friends, poor Harold had barely a chance to briefly kiss his fiancee goodby on the depot platform. Then Milly was whisked away, leaving a rueful knight errant staring gloomily after the speeding train.

Two letters came to Harold that week. Only one the second week. At the beginning of the third week a fairly affectionate note told now Milly's aunt had invited her to spend a full month with her.

Harold winced over the careless tone of the missive. It was still harder to bear when succeeding letters told of gay times at her aunt's home—plenty of company, a merry round of parties, picnics and pleasure. In some of the letters to her sisters Milly referred especially to one or two of her male escorts who had been particularly attentive to her.

Then there was a week and no letter at all. It was Saturday afternoon, and the anxious lover went up to the Wells' home hopeful of some news. As he neared it he heard the voices of Milly's sisters and some friends on the side porch of the house. He was about to join them when his eye caught sight of a figure gliding in among the shrubbery towards the little arbor in the garden.

"Milly! Milly!" cried Harold, his eager steps overtaking her as she sank to a seat in the arbor and covered her face with her hands.

He sat down beside her, trembling with his emotion. She did not shrink from him. In fact she swayed towards him, but like a suppliant, a penitent. He caught a sight of her face, woeful and pale, as she drew closer to him.

"Oh, Harold," she cried—"take me back!"

"To my heart?" cried Harold tenderly. "Why, you have never been out of it—not even for one moment. What is the trouble, dear?"

Amid sobs and tears she confessed it all: a perverse maiden, piqued and unstable, fooling her silly little heart with the thought that she was "teaching her lover a lesson," cheating herself with the delusion of new faces.

"Oh, Harold! when I realized the hollowness of it all, away from you and among those not worth your life's finger—"

He closed her lips with a kiss.

"You are back home again—that is all I want to know," he said and half an hour later, when they joined the family group, he was the happiest man in Christendom and Milly was radiant.

"I will never complain again," promised Milly when they were alone again. "We will have to wait to make up—what we gave to help your poor friend, but I will be patient and happy, Harold."

"Why, that doesn't count, Milly," cried Harold brightly. "Young Gregory paid me back that money last week."

"Paid you back, Harold?"

"Yes, dear. The timely help I gave him bridged a crisis in his career. He went back home a humble prodigal. His mother after a while is going to start him in business, and if he holds out she has asked me to become his partner in an arrangement that means double what I am getting now. It will be June, Milly, after all."

"Oh, Harold, I am so happy," murmured the fair penitent, "foolish, wicked girl that I have been, never realizing that your dear, kind heart was casting bread upon the waters." (Copyright, 1912, by W. G. Chapman.)

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away—Maryville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, weak kidneys may be the cause. The slightest symptom of kidney trouble is too serious to neglect. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned their fame by their effectiveness in strengthening the kidneys and keeping them well. Here is Maryville testimony to prove their worth:

Mrs. R. Snyder, 1108 East Third street, Maryville, Mo., says: "My kidneys bothered me for quite a while and I had a dull pain across my back. I felt tired all the time and couldn't rest well. After using a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I got great relief. My health has been better since."

BAIL READY FOR IRONWORKERS

Convicted Dynamite Plotters Will Be Released in Few Days.

FUNDS RAPIDLY INCREASING.

Second Threat Against Life of Foreman of Federal Jury at Indianapolis Causes Dare to Go to Florida for His Health.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Bail for the labor union officials in the Leavenworth federal prison will be ready today, it was asserted by the men's counsel here. The men may be released within four days, it was said, after a conference between Patrick H. O'Donnell and E. M. Zoline, attorneys for the convicted labor men, and J. E. McClory, acting president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Telegraphic assurances have been received, it was said, from officials of the iron workers' union in every city where the convicted men lived that they were prepared to furnish bail for their members.

Bail for Frank M. Ryan, president of the international union, will be readily obtained in Chicago, according to Mr. Zoline. "We have found a number of men in Chicago who are friendly to union labor and who have promised to go on the bonds," he said. "Red tape will be the only delay in getting the prisoners out."

Foreman Again Threatened.

Newcastle, Ind., Jan. 6.—A second threat against the life of Frank Dare, foreman of the federal jury which convicted the iron workers in the dynamite conspiracy trial at Indianapolis, was received. The letter, which was mailed in Chicago and signed "State Street," is in the same hand writing as the one of a few days ago, which said he would be under the sod within three months. The receipt of the threatening letters and the long confinement while serving on the jury have impaired Mr. Dare's health and this week he will depart for Florida.

CANAL ISSUE TO HAGUE

Division in Senate Brought Out at Washington by Taft's Declaration.

Washington, Jan. 6.—President Taft's declaration that he intends the Panama canal controversy with Great Britain shall be submitted to arbitration "as soon as we get down to the point at issue," again brought out the sharp division that exists in the senate over the obligation of the United States, under its arbitration treaty.

Senator Bacon, the leading Democratic member of the foreign relations committee; Senator Hitchcock, another Democratic member of that committee, and other prominent members of the senate expressed their conviction that the United States was bound by its treaty with Great Britain to submit to arbitration. Senator Root of New York, who is not now in Washington, holds the same view. Senator Sutherland (Rep.), also a member of the committee, has previously expressed the belief that the subject is a domestic one and not such as the United States is compelled to arbitrate.

Senator Bacon, in a statement based on President Taft's announcement suggested that the United States, if it submitted to arbitration, could properly ask for a special tribunal, so constituted as to insure an impartial judgment.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH HAD AN EXCELLENT YEAR.

HAD BALANCE ON HAND

Almost $100 on Hand, Where Last Year There Was an $800 Deficit—Society Reports Good.

Sunday was the annual meeting of the Christian church and an all-day service was held. Reports were read from the different departments of the church work, and financially the church came out ahead for the first time in several years. The reports were the most encouraging in the history of the church.

A basket dinner was served at the noon hour in the parlors of the church and three hundred sat down for the opening.

At the business session, which was held at the morning service hour, four elders and eight deacons were elected. The elders are W. W. Glass, T. H. Cook, Dr. J. H. Todd, Jonathan Stark. The deacons are A. B. Frost, A. L. Nash, G. B. Roseberry, W. E. Gotforth, J. D. Dickerson, Dr. A. T. Fisher, Henry Westfall, O. W. Swinford. The greater number of these men had served before. The church now has eight elders and twenty deacons.

The first report was the pastor's, Rev. C. J. Miller. It is as follows:

"The pastor wishes to submit the following report: Regular sermons, 118; special addresses, 20, including commencement addresses, Memorial day, Titanic memorial, Mothers' Circle, Normal chapel, etc.; funeral sermons, 23; total sermons and addresses, 157; Weddings, 27; calls, including calls on the sick, 386.

"Gain in membership since January 1, 1912 to December 31, 1912, 142. Of these 100 came by primary obedience, confession and baptism, 42 cases from other sources; total gain, 142. Loss, 26; of these 6 by death and 20 by letter. Gain, 142; loss, 26, net gain, 116.

"The pastor has baptized 4 who retain their membership elsewhere. He also held a meeting at Burlington Junction, resulting in 51 additions to the church; 43 of these were baptized and 8 came by letter.

"In the year, including the meeting at Burlington Junction, the pastor has baptized 147, and taken 193 into the church, 142 of this number into the local church."

"For the first time in sixteen years there was a balance in the regular treasury. The balance was almost $100. Last year there was a deficit of $800. The church reached its full apportionment to foreign missions, $600, for the second time in five years. There were gifts to a number of other enterprises."

The next report was from the Bible school by Ernest Yeaman. The report gave an increase in average attendance and a little balance in the treasury.

The Endeavor had a banner year with an increase of 100 per cent in membership and a little balance in the treasury.

The Ladies' Aid also had a banner year, the best in their history. Several hundred dollars passed through their hands in practical service, and they have a balance of $237.75 in the treasury. Report was read by Mrs. James B. Robinson.

The C. W. B. M., Christian Woman's Board of Missions, report by Mrs. Henry Westfall, was remarkable. The items of helpfulness are too numerous to mention. They had a balance of $100 on hand.

The Mission Circle gained 12 members during the year and had $200 in the treasury.

Every society and auxiliary had a gain in membership and came out ahead financially.

What Happened Forty Years Ago

Interesting Items Taken From The Democrat Files.

Sunday was the annual meeting of the Christian church and an all-day service was held. Reports were read from the different departments of the church work, and financially the church came out ahead for the first time in several years. The reports were the most encouraging in the history of the church.

A basket dinner was served at the noon hour in the parlors of the church and three hundred sat down for the opening.

During last week Messrs. Stephen-son and Briggs shipped from this place to St. Joseph 877 head of hogs, weighing in the aggregate 230,687 pounds, and at 5 cents they amounted to $11,534.35. Prices at all points are a trifle lower than last week, or, about 10 cents on the hundred. The entire shipment of hogs from Nodaway county up to this date will probably not exceed 6,000 head, which is possibly not more than one-third of the marketable hogs fattened in the county.

On New Year's day our fellow townsmen L. C. Evans of the grocery firm of Evans, Weaver & Co., was married to Miss Rachel Jones daughter of Wm. A. Jones, Esq., of this county.

The session of the Nodaway county teachers' institute held in this place during last week was in every way a gratifying success. Lectures were delivered by Rev. J. S. Barwick, H. M. Jackson, Esq., and Prof. Edwards. The music was furnished by Mrs. Briggs and unexceptionable.

At the meeting of the citizens of this school district held on last Wednesday the proposition to continue the public schools for a longer term than is provided for by the levy of an extra tax was voted down, and arrangements are now being made to continue the school by private patronage under competent teachers.

On last Saturday arrangements were made by which the books and "good will" of the Journal were transferred to the Republican of this place. "One by one the roses fall."

The dedicatory services of the Union Presbyterian church took place on Thursday last, December 29, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The Rev. J. M. Crawford, missionary pastor of the church at this place, and Rev. E. B. Sherwood and Rev. Henry Bullard, both of St. Joseph were present and conducted the exercises. Mr. Z. T. Crittenger, Mr. Thomas W. Gaunt, Mr. Henry Hudson and lady, and Mrs. E. H. Edwards composed the choir, Mrs. Hudson performing on the instrument. Rev. J. S. Barwick of the M. E. church offered the invocation. Messrs. Crane and Hastings presented a very hand-somely bound Bible to the church. The presentation speech was made in their behalf by Judge Andrew Royal. He responded to on the part of the church by Prof. Edwards. The Union Presbyterian church was organized on December 8, 1868, by Rev. E. B. Sherwood, then missionary pastor, acting under the auspices of the Lexington presbytery, new school, August, 1869. Rev. George W. McMillan succeeded Rev. Sherwood, and after staying five weeks he withdrew and was succeeded by Rev. J. M. Crawford. The Union Presbyterian church building is among the first in Northwest Missouri.

Dean of State School Coming to Confer in Matter—Government and State Each Pay Part of Salary.

Wholesalers Also Interested in Law Which Would Protect Them in Cases of Transfer of Stocks.

The Commercial club of Maryville is now considering hiring a county farm adviser for Nodaway county, whose duty it is to give expert advice to the farmers on how to raise better crops and on all lines of farm work.

Dean Mumford of the state agricultural college of the university, will arrive in Maryville Tuesday and the club and citizens here will confer with him in regard to the matter. The state agricultural college has charge of this work and makes the selection of these advisers.

It is only necessary to raise $500 to secure one of these farm advisers. The United States government gives $500 a year to each county, and the state gives $500, and the state legislature is going to pass a bill requesting the county court in each county to give $500.

Only a few of the counties over the state have hired these farm advisers. Pettis county, of which Sedalia is the county seat, was the first one in the state, and S. M. Jordan is the man they selected to have charge of the work. That county is well satisfied, and so are the other counties that have selected one.

Buchanan county is to have one but has not selected the man.

DEFEATED BY TARKIO

By a Score of 43 to 26—Next Game for Normal Team in St. Joseph.

Returning from a 3,000-mile trip through the south, where they played nine games and were as many times defeated, the Tarkio college basketball team got some sweet revenge on the local Normal five Friday night at Tarkio. The count of the tragedy was 43 to 26, which is not so bad considering that the Tarkio bunch hadn't been defeated for two years until on this work.

Superior team work was the principal reason for the locals' defeat, although they were outclassed all around.

The next game for the green and white will come next Saturday night, when they play the St. Joseph Central high school team at St. Joseph.

THE FIRST REAL WINTER.

MERCURY DOWN TO ZERO IN FIRST BAD STORM OF WINTER—IT WAS WORSE A YEAR AGO.

The first real cold of the 1913 winter struck Maryville Saturday night, and we are experiencing the first severe storm of the season. The cold weather which prevails generally throughout the state, follows a week of unseasonably high temperatures and was accompanied by a light drifting snow.

On Sunday morning the mercury went down to 16 above zero, and on Monday morning the mercury stood at zero, making it the coldest morning of the winter.

Over an inch of snow fell, being the first real snow of the season. It was still snowing during the day Monday.

Just a year ago the weather was very severe and there was snow on the ground several feet deep. The temperature on the morning of January 5, 1912, was 6 below zero, and on the morning of January 6 it was 17 below zero. Then on January 7 it was 16 below zero; January 8, 4 below; January 9, 1 below; January 10, 7 below; January 11, 8 below; January 12, 28 below, and January 13, 12 below.

The forecast for today is cloudy and colder tonight; Tuesday fair and continued cold.

MANY ATTENDED FUNERAL.

Services for Mrs. P. O. Landon Were Heard by Many Friends.

Although the day was exceedingly stormy and cold, the First Baptist church was filled with friends to hear the beautiful service in memory of Mrs. Perry O. Landon, who passed away Friday morning.

Many had visited the home between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m., to take the last look at the sweet-faced young mother, who had become a familiar sight to many who did not know her personally, as she went on almost daily walks with her two little boys. They had been together more than usual during the Christmas shopping days and were often seen at the windows talking about the things they saw or making purchases, and it was hard to believe that death had touched her. The floral offerings were so rich and profuse that there was no evidence of death, and she whom all mourned looked like a lily uprooted on its bed.

There were two hymns given, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "Crossing the Bar," by the quartet, Miss Marie Jones, Miss Nelle Wray, Mr. Long Perrin and Mr. Orlo Quinn. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Lee Harrel, the prayer by Rev. S. D. Harkness, and a brief talk of consolation by Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, founded on the vision of St. John, where he said, "And there shall be no more sea," meaning that in the heavenly home there would be no more separation and that death nor sorrow nor any other thing that corrodes the present life should ever enter there, where all tears shall be wiped from weeping eyes.

At the cemetery the casket was lowered into the grave that was lined and bordered with the floral offerings.

Relatives from a distance at the services were Mrs. Mary Landon, Mrs. Theodore Chapman and Mrs. J. A. Wiseman of Jerseyville, Ill., the mother, aunt and sister of Mr. Landon, and a cousin, Mrs. George McNaught of Virden, Ill.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home by Rev. Sappenfield of the M. E. church at Burlington Junction. Burial took place in the Junction cemetery. The little girl is survived by her parents, five sisters and a brother—Elsie, Mary, Mabel, Lois, Helen and Arthur.

MAYOR ROBEY TO WED.

He Will Marry Mrs. Stella Lawson of This City on Wednesday.

Mayor Arthur S. Robey will wed on Wednesday, January 8, Mrs. Stella Lawson of this city. When seen by a representative of this paper, Mayor Robey would not deny or affirm that he is to be married, but he has informed his close friends that it will be on Wednesday.

MEETINGS START OUT WELL.

The revival services at Harmony church started Sunday with a good attendance, although the weather was so forbidding. Dr. Norman Camp of Chicago, who has charge of the meetings, preached in the morning on "The Wideawake Christian," and in the evening on "Sin," and will use the same subject Monday night. Pastor C. R. Green of Harmony church expressed much satisfaction Monday over the good beginning of the meetings.

MR. AND MRS. EMMETT SCOTT WERE CALLED TO BURLINGTON JUNCTION SUNDAY MORNING BY THE DEATH OF MRS. SCOTT'S LITTLE NIECE, RUTH HOUSTON.

Mrs. Oscar Chaney of Kansas City, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Matt O'Brien, returned home Monday.

VISITING IN THE CITY.

Dr. H. E. Moss of Kansas City was in Maryville on Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Watts moved last week to their farm, near the Bell Grove school house.

Cloudy and colder tonight; Tuesday fair and continued cold.

TARIFF REVISION TO THE FORE

Democrats Face Active Work on
New Bills This Week.

HEARINGS WILL BE ACCORDED

Conferences Between Legislative Leaders and President Wilson Afterward Will Determine the Course to Be Taken—Methods Not Decided.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The first stage in the program for downward revision of the tariff, promised by the Democratic party, was entered upon today when the house representatives, through its committee on ways and means, formally opened the doors to the American public for the discussion of tariff rates, protection to industries and concessions to the "ultimate consumer."

The work will be preparatory to the first change of tariff duties since 1909, when the Payne-Aldrich law was enacted by a Republican congress and approved by a Republican president.

Fortified by the election of a Democratic president and congress, the adoption of a tariff reduction plank at the Baltimore convention and the pronouncement of President elect Wilson that tariff revision is to be the first big achievement of the new administration, Democratic leaders opened today's hearings confident that they will lead to an early change in many, if not all, of the schedules of the existing tariff law.

Methods Not Decided.

The method of the approaching revision and the extent of the changes to be made in the present duties are points not fully settled by the Democratic leaders in congress and President elect Wilson. It is known that reduced duties on chemicals, metals, cotton and woolen goods will follow closely the standard fixed by the bills which have passed the Democratic house during the last two years, none of which has become law. The facts to be brought out at the public hearings this month and the conferences to follow between President elect Wilson and the house and senate leaders may, however, result in important modifications of the big reductions the house has put into some of the bills of the last two years.

NEW CABINET NOT CHOSEN

President Elect Says That His Mind Is Still Open.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 6.—President elect Wilson made it clear that nobody in the United States knew as yet who was going to be in his cabinet, or what would be the program he would suggest for the next congress. He declared he had not offered a single cabinet portfolio to anyone thus far and had as yet reached no conclusions as to plans for the extra session.

The president elect admitted he was finding the task of cabinet making very difficult. He said he would delay any announcements until he could name his entire cabinet.

TWENTY-TWO ARE DROWNED

Steamer Luckenbach Run Down by British Tramp Vessel.

Newport News, Va., Jan. 6.—Eight survivors of the steamer Julia Luckenbach, rammed and sunk in Chesapeake bay by the British tramp steamer Indrakaula, arrived here and told how fourteen of their number had gone down in the icy waters without a chance for life. The eight, after a six-hour battle with the terrific gale, which swept the whole coast, were taken from the rigging of their sunken ship by the Danish steamer Penna and brought here. Six others later were rescued by the Indrakaula, according to a wireless message from the revenue cutter Apache. One of these died later.

Three Launches Wrecked.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 6.—Three coasting launches were driven ashore on the California coast, near Point of Rocks, fifteen miles south of this city, and at least seven men were drowned. One of the wrecked boats was the United States immigrant launch Elizabeth. There was a total of twelve men on board the three vessels, and only two are known to have reached shore. The three vessels met disaster in one of the severest storms recently experienced on the southern California coast.

Fighting for Ball Park.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 6.—Wichita fans and the stockholders in the Wichita Baseball association are wondering what they will do for a ball park next summer if the plans of certain parties succeed. The Wichita ball park is located on an island. URGES FREEDOM FOR AMERICAN RED MEN

Former Commissioner Valentine's Report to Secretary Fisher.

Washington, Jan. 6.—That the American Indian should be released as soon as possible from the paternal care of the United States government, now his guardian in virtually everything he does, was the opinion expressed in the annual report from the bureau of Indian affairs submitted to Secretary of the Interior Fisher by Robert G. Valentine, until recently commissioner.

The then commissioner voiced the hope that the day might be near when the United States will finally have lifted its hands from Indian affairs, and all Indians in all respects will stand on an equal footing with all their fellow Americans."

"With all the expedition compatible with the Indians' welfare," he added, "they should be made subject to the laws of their states and be taught to look to their local government instead of the national government. My conviction is that no possible obstacle should be placed in the way of the transformation of Indian affairs administered by the United States into the affairs of normal citizens under the ordinary jurisdiction of the states."

"I do not suggest further authority for enlarged federal jurisdiction over minor offenses on reservations. Important questions of marriage and divorce illustrate difficult points, of which the only proper solution appears to be education of Indians, whether or not they are citizens, to comply with the laws of their states."

Progress during the year in teaching the Indian to be sober and industrious, in educating him to be a better farmer and mechanic, and in imparting health principles, both as they apply individually and in the home, was reported.

"TAMA JIM" WANTS FUNDS

Retiring Secretary Makes Last Appeal to House Committee.

Washington, Jan. 6.—"Tama Jim" Wilson made his last appeal for funds to conduct the work of the department of agriculture when he appeared before the house agricultural committee. Secretary Wilson will retire on March 4.

In particular he asked for increased appropriations to continue the enforcement of the pure food law and for educational work. Reviewing the work of the department in the south, he asserted that the beef supply of the country must in the future come from the south instead of the west.

TURKS MAKE NEW CONCESSIONS

Danger of Rupture of Peace Negotiations Seems Averted.

NOT CONCEDING ADRIANOPLIS

Mussulmans Prefer to Give Up Rights in Crete First—Will Agree to Move Thracean Line Farther East—Anything to Save Dignity.

London, Jan. 6.—The general situation has ameliorated and the danger of a rupture of the peace negotiations today seems to be averted through Turkey making fresh concessions, which will enable the allies to enjoy a holiday during the festivities in connection with the orthodox Christmas.

Rechad Pasha seems to have turned into a sphinx, so full of mystery and impenetrable is he. By authoritative sources it is said that the powers through their ambassadors here and at Constantinople have succeeded in mixing much water with both the allies' and Turkey's wine.

Strong pressure in favor of moderation has been exercised at Constantinople, while the Balkan representatives have been urged to be patient before breaking off the negotiations, especially as they can lose nothing by waiting, their position being better than that of Turkey.

The efforts of the powers appear to be successful on both sides. Thus, unless some sudden change develops Rechad Pasha will present terms which will comprise another rectification of the Thracean frontier, bringing it farther east than provided for in the terms presented Friday, perhaps to Dedeagatch, but not yet including Adrianople, and possibly the cession of Turkey's rights in Crete directly to the allies.

JUDGE MAKES CONCESSION

Refuses to Rescind Order Approving Raise in Price of Gas.

Kansas City, Jan. 6.—Judge Pollock of the federal court in Kansas City, Kan., refused to rescind his order of Dec. 30, approving a raise in the price of gas by the Kansas Natural Gas company.

Application for the rescinding of the order was made by C. F. Holmes and George Sharratt, receivers for the gas company. As a concession to officials of Kansas and Missouri towns affected by the gas order, Judge Pollock slightly modified his original mandate by forbidding the Kansas Natural to shut off the supply to distributing companies if they failed to meet the advance at the end of ten days, which provision was made in the original order of Dec. 30.

The court set the first Monday in February as the date upon which all those interested might appear in court and thoroughly thresh out the gas question.

HARDY VARIETY OF WHEAT

Aaronson Says "Wild" Specie Will Reclaim Arid Areas of America.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Jewish settlements in Palestine have developed varieties of wheat that will make possible the settlement of the vast desert tracts in America. This statement was made here by an agricultural expert at a meeting of prominent Hebrews.

Aaron Aaronson, recently returned from Haifa, Palestine, where an agricultural experiment station is maintained, said the hardiest of all wheat has been discovered and that it would grow anywhere. The wheat is said to be immune to all diseases and to drought. Eighteen varieties of the wheat have been developed at Haifa according to Mr. Aaronson.

Police Think They Have Auto Bandits

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Detectives searching this city for the automobile bandits whose raids have terrorized citizens captured three men from Detroit whom they assert to be members of the band of automobile raiders. A fourth man, also from Detroit, overpowered the detective who had him in charge and escaped.

His Wilful Milly

A Perverse Maiden Thought She Was Teaching Her Lover a Lesson.

By ALVAH JORDON GARTH.

"Don't be too hard on me, Milly."

"I'm not. You are hard on yourself Harold. Just think of it; when we were getting along so nicely, and everything was going so well! I can't bear to think of it," and pretty Milly Wells burst into tears.

"I am sorry," began the young man in a contrite tone meant to be soothing. He placed a gentle hand on Milly's own. She switched it away wiffully and petulantly.

"You never would have done it if I had known," declared the young girl between sobs. "I never want you to show me the bank book again. I've lost all interest in it forever, and I'm glad I'm going to visit Aunt Margaret. People may have some consideration for me there."

Harold's brow drew into a wrinkle of pain. He was deeply in love with Milly, but he felt that she was pretty far away from his influence just now.

"Milly," he said quite gravely, "we must not quarrel over a trifle."

"A trifle!" cried his companion indignantly. "Do you call my wishes, my happiness, nothing?"

"Listen to me, dear," said Harold tenderly. "You and I would never have met, and I might still be a drudge in a poor country store, if it were not for John Gregory."

"Oh, that's an old story," replied Milly impatiently.

"Yes, it is an old story," pursued Harold, "and a good old story—how he gave me, a penniless lad, enough money to reach the city, and a recommendation that enabled me to win my present position. There is a new part to the story now, Milly. His son, a profligate, came to me today. He was in trouble—something worse than trouble, dear, almost disgrace. A hundred and fifty dollars might save him. I remembered what his kind old father, now dead, had done for me, and—"

"You let him have the money—our money!" said Milly. "All that great sum earned so hard and saved so slowly. Oh, dear! oh, dear! it is almost heartbreaking!"

"I feel that I did right," declared Harold. "It would have been base ingratitude to deny young Gregory what may be his last safety line to hope and home."

Harold walked slowly home in the moonlight, serious and wretched. After the first golden glamour of their early now Milly's aunt had invited her to spend a full month with her.

Harold Walked Slowly Home, Serious and Wretched.

Harold winced over the careless one of the mischiefs. It was still harder to bear when succeeding letters told of gay times at her aunt's home—plenty of company, a merry round of parties, picnics and pleasure. In some of the letters to her sisters Milly referred especially to one or two of her male escorts who had been particularly attentive to her.

Then there was a week and no letter at all. It was Saturday afternoon, and the anxious lover went up to the Wells home hopeful of some news. As he neared it he heard the voices of Milly's sisters and some friends on the side porch of the house. He was about to join them when his eye caught sight of a figure gliding in among the shrubbery towards the little arbor in the garden.

"Milly! Milly!" cried Harold, his eager steps overtaking her as she sank to a seat in the arbor and covered her face with her hands.

He sat down beside her, trembling with his emotion. She did not shrink from him. In fact she swayed towards him, but like a suppliant, a penitent. He caught a sight of her face, woeful and pale, as she drew closer to him.

"Oh, Harold," she cried—"take me back!"

"To my heart?" cried Harold tenderly. "Why, you have never been out of it—not even for one moment. What is the trouble, dear?"

Mild sobs and tears she confessed it all; a perverse maiden, piqued and unstable, fooling her silly little heart with the thought that she was "teaching her lover a lesson," cheating herself with the delusion of new faces.

"Oh, Harold! when I realized the hollowness of it all, away from you and among those not worth your little finger—"

He closed her lips with a kiss.

"You are back home again—that is all I want to know," he said and half an hour later, when they joined the family group, he was the happiest man in Christendom and Milly was radiant.

"I will never complain again," promised Milly when they were alone again. "We will have to wait to make up what—we gave to help your poor friend, but I will be patient—and happy, Harold."

"Why, that doesn't count, Milly," cried Harold brightly. "Young Gregory paid me back that money last week."

"Paid you back, Harold?"

"Yes, dear. The timely help I gave him bridged a crisis in his career. He went back home a humble prodigal. His mother after a while is going to start him in business, and if he holds out she has asked me to become his partner in an arrangement that means double what I am getting now. It will be June, Milly, after all."

"Oh Harold, I am so happy," murmured the fair penitent, "foolish, wicked girl that I have been, never realizing that your dear, kind heart was casting bread upon the waters." (Copyright, 1912, by W. G. Chapman)

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away—Maryville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, weak kidneys may be the cause. The slightest symptom of kidney trouble is too serious to neglect. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned their fame by their effectiveness in strengthening the kidneys and keeping them well. Here is Maryville testimony to prove their worth:

Mrs. R. Snyder, 1108 East Third street, Maryville, Mo., says: "My kidneys bothered me for quite a while and I had a dull pain across my back. I felt tired all the time and couldn't rest well. After using a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I got great relief. My health has been better since."

BAIL READY FOR IRONWORKERS

Convicted Dynamite Plotters Will Be Released in Few Days.

FUNDS RAPIDLY INCREASING.

Second Threat Against Life of Foreman of Federal Jury at Indianapolis Causes Dare to Go to Florida for His Health.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Bail for the labor union officials in the Leavenworth federal prison will be ready today, it was asserted by the men's counsel here. The men may be released within four days, it was said, after a conference between Patrick H. O'Donnell and E. M. Zeline, attorneys for the convicted labor men, and J. E. McClosky, acting president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Telegraphic assurances have been received, it was said, from officials of the iron workers' union in every city where the convicted men lived that they were prepared to furnish bail for their members.

Bail for Frank M. Ryan, president of the international union, will be readily obtained in Chicago, according to Mr. Zoline. "We have found a number of men in Chicago who are friendly to union labor and who have promised to go on the bonds," he said. "Red tape will be the only delay in getting the prisoners out."

Foreman Again Threatened.

New Castle, Ind., Jan. 6.—A second threat against the life of Frank Dare, foreman of the federal jury which convicted the iron workers in the dynamite conspiracy trial at Indianapolis, was received. The letter, which was mailed in Chicago and signed "State Street," is in the same handwriting as the one of a few days ago, which said he would be under the sod within three months. The receipt of the threatening letters and the long confinement while serving on the jury have impaired Mr. Dare's health and this week he will depart for Florida.

CANAL ISSUE TO HAGUE

Division in Senate Brought Out at Washington by Taft's Declaration.

Washington, Jan. 6.—President Taft's declaration that he intends the Panama canal controversy with Great Britain shall be submitted to arbitration "as soon as we get down to the point at issue," again brought out the sharp division that exists in the senate over the obligation of the United States, under its arbitration treaty.

Senator Bacon, the leading Democratic member of the foreign relations committee; Senator Hitchcock, another Democratic member of that committee, and other prominent members of the senate expressed their conviction that the United States was bound by its treaty with Great Britain to submit to arbitration. Senator Root of New York, who is not now in Washington, holds the same view. Senator Sutherland (Rep.), also a member of the committee, has previously expressed the belief that the subject is a domestic one and not such as the United States is compelled to arbitrate.

Senator Bacon, in a statement based on President Taft's announcement suggested that the United States, if it submitted to arbitration, could properly ask for a special tribunal, so constituted as to insure an impartial judge.

STRIKE VOTE TO BE TAKEN

Women Hurt in Rush to Attend Mass Meeting in New York.

New York, Jan. 6.—In the rush of more than a thousand men and women in an attempt to enter the Hippodrome to attend a mass meeting of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, several women were thrown from their feet and slightly injured.

About 6,000 persons were in the hall when the doors were ordered closed. When a report reached the street that there were a thousand vacant seats, the rush at the entrance followed and for a time the police were powerless.

Speakers at the meeting declared in favor of women joining the tailors' strike, which has involved, according to the strike leaders, more than 100,000 workers. A strike vote will be taken early this week.

Among the spectators were Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Miss Inez Milford, suffragist leaders.

Insane Man Garrick's Teacher.

Garrick had been acquainted with an unfortunate man in Leavenworth street Goodman's Fields, who, playing one day at an upper window with his two rear child, accidentally let it spring from his arms and fall into a flagged area. The child was killed and, from that moment, the miserable father lost speech and reason. He passed the remainder of his existence in going to a window, playing in imagination with a child, dropping it then bursting into tears, and filling the house with shrieks of anguish.

Afterwards he would sit down, pendulous and still, and at times look slowly round as if imploring compassion.

"There it was," Garrick used to say, "that I learned to imitate madness; I copied nature, and to that owed my success in 'King Lear'."—From Garrick and His Circle.
